*True art heals. True art
restores equanimity.
Art must regenerate the sense of well-being.
That is its true purpose.*

THE DIVINE IMAGE-ART OF ADI DA SAMRAJ

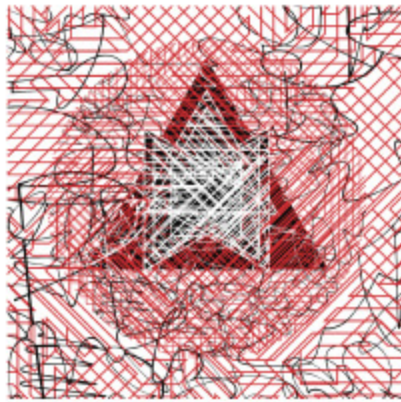

As part of the Florence Dance Festival held in July, the Florence Dance Company performed a new choreography of Dante's The Divine Comedy, featuring monumental projections of Adi Da's Divine Image-Art. The artistic creations were from Adi Da's two Suites on the Orpheus theme, Orpheus One, and Linead One-Eurydice One. They provided a unique backdrop and lighting for the dance, which was also supported by live music. The season was a resounding success, audiences being overwhelmed by the sheer beauty of the conjunction of these interactive art forms. The work was titled Divina.com and its power was further enhanced by the setting, the historic Bargello museum in Florence.

The next major event for Adi Da's Art is at the Sundaram Tagore Gallery in New York, from Sept. 9 - Oct. 9, 2010. This exhibition, Orpheus and Linead, is the premier exhibition of Adi Da's Image Art in New York.

TRANSCENDENTAL REALISM

The Image-Art of egoless Coincidence
With Reality Itself

Adi Da Samraj

TRANSCENDENTAL REALISM

The Image-Art of egoless Coincidence With Reality Itself

This greatly expanded second edition contains ten new essays which Adi Da wrote in the final year of his life, together with all of the essays published in the first edition of Transcendental Realism, as well as those published in Aesthetic Ecstasy and Perfect Abstraction.

Transcendental Realism brings together all of Adi Da's writings on art. It includes details on the methods, meaning, and purposes of his own work, his penetrating insight into the present-day culture and purpose of art, and specific recommendations on how to participate ecstatically in art. Adi Da also intensively considers the error of presuming oneself to be separate from a work of art—and he invites every individual to be drawn beyond this illusion of separateness into the ecstatic, living process of participating in his image-art.

The Dawn Horse Press is publishing this new edition of Transcendental Realism – The Image-Art of egoless Coincidence With Reality Itself to coincide with the exhibition at the Sundaram Tagore Gallery in New York.

RECOGNITION OF ME IS LIBERATION

Avatar Adi Da describes in great detail the 'seed' of the Reality-Way of Adidam: devotional recognition of His intrinsically egoless State. He further describes how this seed of tacit recognition (and not belief) is the means by which the devotee Communes with His Eternal Divine State via the responsive turning of the faculties (of body, emotion, mind, and breath) to His Divine Presence.
